QUALIFICATIONS

A. Qualifications

- 1) I, Guy A. Davis, am a forensic accountant with Protiviti Inc. (“Protiviti”), an international risk-management consulting firm with more than 70 offices in over 20 countries. I am a Managing Director and lead Protiviti’s Restructuring and Litigation Services practice (“RLS”). I was a co-founder of PENTA Advisory Services, LLC (“PENTA”), the predecessor entity to Protiviti’s RLS practice.

I have also served as acting Chief Financial Officer of debtor organizations, court-approved Chief Liquidation Officer, claims and disbursing agent, and as accountant to Chapter 7 and Chapter 11 trustees, creditor committees, and equity committees. I have also valued businesses in connection with estate planning, loan collateral analysis, raising debt and equity capital, and purchasing or selling portions or all of a business enterprise.

- 5) My financial consulting and valuation experience spans a broad range of industries, including, but not limited to, retail, financial services, apparel, resort and hospitality, health care, public utilities, professional sports, banking, communications, wholesale distribution food service, equipment manufacturing, furniture rental, insurance, pharmaceutical manufacturing, equipment leasing, steel fabrication, ship repair, heavy highway construction, and mining.
- 6) I am a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), a Certified Insolvency and Restructuring Advisor (CIRA), a Certified Fraud Examiner (CFE), and hold a Certification in Distressed Business Valuation (CDBV). - 7) In 2007, I was inducted as a fellow into the American College of Bankruptcy (the "College"), an honorary association of bankruptcy and insolvency professionals, including distinguished judges, attorneys, law professors, U.S. trustees, and financial advisors. Nominees for induction to the College are invited to join based on the highest standards of professionalism and service to the profession.
- 8) I co-authored the Bankruptcy Tax and Accounting section of the Virginia CLE and the Virginia Law Foundation's Bankruptcy Practice in Virginia publication. I also authored and presented "Mark-to-Market Accounting and FASB 157 – The Impact on the Current Financial Crisis" for the American College of Bankruptcy 2009 Annual Meeting in Washington D.C. Over the past 15 years, I have taught several continuing education courses to accountants and attorneys on the topics of bankruptcy, accounting, solvency, valuation, and forecasting techniques. A more detailed description of my experience and qualifications and a listing of my trial and deposition testimony experience are provided as Exhibit 9.

SECTION B

ASSIGNMENT

B. Assignment

- 9) In August 2007, pharmaceutical developer E Claiborne Robins Company, Inc. (“ECR”) sold the rights to Amrix, a patented extended release skeletal muscle relaxant (cyclobenzaprine hydrochloride) to Anesta AG (“Anesta”), a Swiss subsidiary of Cephalon, Inc. (“Cephalon”), an American biopharmaceutical company. Pursuant to the asset purchase agreement, Anesta was obligated to pay ECR $100 million plus future royalty payments over a 12-year period that were triggered by cumulative net sales milestones as set forth in the contract.¹
- 10) On October 14, 2011, Cephalon and Anesta were acquired by Teva (“Teva” is defined collectively as Teva Pharmaceuticals Industries Ltd., Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc., or Teva Pharmaceuticals International GMBH, or individually as applicable).² As part of the acquisition, Teva assumed Anesta’s financial obligations under the Amrix purchase agreement. To ensure that fair consideration was paid to ECR, at all times, Anesta and Teva were required to use “commercially reasonable efforts” (as defined in the purchase agreement) to market and sell Amrix.
- 11) Beginning in 2017, under Teva ownership, Amrix net sales declined dramatically, as did the associated royalty payments to ECR. ECR has alleged that Teva did not use the requisite “commercially reasonable efforts” to market and sell the Amrix product during this time period.
- 12) In connection with this dispute, counsel for ECR, Miles & Stockbridge P.C., engaged Protiviti Inc., under my direction, on May 11, 2021, to provide forensic accounting and litigation support services. Specifically, Protiviti was asked to:
 - a) Assess Teva’s financial condition following several negative market and company-specific events that occurred in 2016 and 2017.

- b) Determine whether the remediation strategy adopted by Teva, in response to the financial distress caused by the 2016 and 2017 negative market and company-specific events: 1) required Teva to dramatically cut operating and marketing expenses, despite the anticipated negative impact on long-term profits, and 2) whether such cuts represented a departure from Teva's normal business practices with respect to marketing and selling its products.
- c) Assess the statistical correlation between the direct and indirect investments made by Teva and Cephalon, to market and sell Amrix from 2007 through 2019 and the attendant sales results for each year, and opine whether cuts to the Amrix promotional efforts in 2017-2018³ resulted in a decline in Amrix net sales and operating profits.⁴

13) Protiviti has completed its assignment. My opinions regarding Teva's financial condition, and remediation strategy, and the information that serves as a basis for those opinions, are set forth in sections E.1 and E.2 of this report. The results of my statistical analysis of Teva's marketing investment and Amrix revenue is contained in Section E.3 and Exhibits 6 and 7 of this report. In doing my analysis, I have relied on publicly available sources of information typically relied upon in the industry for evaluating the financial condition of a publicly traded company (like Teva), and additional materials made available through discovery in this case, including Teva's internal documents and the testimony of former Teva employees as described in more detail below.

³ I have been asked also to consider any costs for marketing and selling Amrix in 2019 and 2020 if Teva produces such data in discovery as requested.

⁴ To facilitate the analysis performed by other plaintiff experts, Protiviti was also asked to compile, organize, and present prescription statistics and other data obtained from IQVIA and other publicly available sources.
